NY Mental Health Center Partners with Path 2 Potential to Support Families of Children with Autism Spectrum Disorder

New York, NY – 12/01/2024 – The NY Mental Health Center (NYMHC), a leading provider of teletherapy services for New York residents, is excited to announce a strategic partnership with Path 2 Potential (P2P), a premier provider of Applied Behavior Analysis (ABA) therapy for children with autism spectrum disorder (ASD). This collaboration will create a seamless support system for families navigating the challenges of autism, combining expert teletherapy services with specialized ABA care.

Under the partnership, NYMHC's team of 16 highly qualified clinical psychologists will be available to support the families of children with autism spectrum disorder through teletherapy. In turn, P2P's renowned ABA therapy services will be accessible to NYMHC clients whose children are on the autism spectrum. This mutual collaboration aims to strengthen family well-being and enhance outcomes for both children and their loved ones.

"This partnership represents an incredible opportunity to expand the care available to families in New York," said Corry Prohens, founder and Practice Director of NY Mental Health Center. "Path 2 Potential is a true leader in ABA therapy, and we are proud to work alongside them to provide holistic support to families of children with autism. Autism places unique pressures on couples, siblings, and overall family dynamics. Our team of dedicated clinicians is ready to provide compassionate and expert teletherapy to help families navigate these challenges together."

Path 2 Potential's Co-Founder & CEO, Jason Lantier, echoed this enthusiasm. "The ability to connect our clients with the exceptional team at NY Mental Health Center is a huge value add for the families we serve. We are proud to partner with such a world-class group of therapists, whose dedication to helping families thrive mirrors our own. For NYMHC clients whose children are affected by autism, we are standing by and ready to provide specialized, evidence-based care to meet their unique needs."
